Middlebury College Kaleidoscope 2003-2004

Middlebury is home to many unique and locally owned shops which line Main Street and Marble Works.

Down past Ben & Jerry's is the foot bridge which crosses over Otter Creek leading to Marble Works. From the bridge one can have an amazing view of the falls and of the marble buildings of Marble Works which represents one of Middlebury's older industries, the marble quarries. This marble was taken from the original quarry located off of Quarry Road.

Town of Middlebury

The town of Middlebury has so much to offer its residents and college students alike, whether it is taking a walk across the foot bridge at dusk or exploring the unique shops which line Main Street. The relationship between the town and the College has grown as more and more members of the town become employed by the college and students seek jobs off campus. Each summer many students choose to remain in Middlebury to get a better taste of what it has to offer.

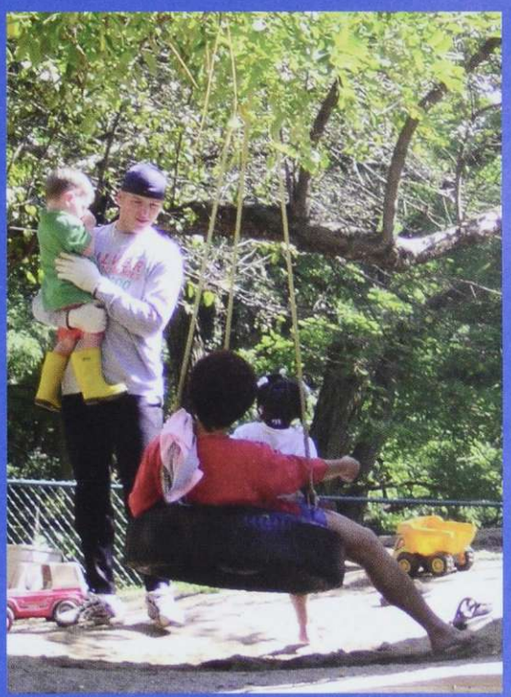
Ice cream at Vermont based Ben and Jerry's as well as the late night delivery of pizza sticks from Alumi owned Neil And Ottos are just a couple of the tasty foods students can enjoy in Middlebury and the surrounding communities. From Chinese to Indian food, there is something to suit everyone's taste buds.

The town of Middlebury is very diverse in their religious offerings ranging from Catholism to Judaism, from congregationalist to Mormanism. The Middlebury student has a wide aray of religious communities to practice with and for those not reprsented in the community itself, their are campus groups which practice bringing both members of the campus and the greater Middlebury community alike to come together and worship.

Though a small community, Middlebury still has it's own Post Office, Public Library and a two screen movie theater for the residents and college students a like to take advantage of.

Community Involvement

Middlebury College prides itself in its ability to not only give its students a well rounded liberal arts education, but also urges the students to take advantage of the surrounding community and become active within the town of Middlebury itself. Each year over 1,100 students and faculty/staff take advantage of the opportunities to volunteer their time and services to various organizations within Middlebury and the surrounding communities. Over 42,000 hours are spent by these people annually. Whether it's walking dogs at the humane society or spending an afternoon with a person at Elderly Services, the students at Middlebury learn greater lessons during their time at Middlebury than just what they can learn from books. They learn of compassion and the gift of giving.



Studying and Academics

Students take advantage of a nice day by studying outside of Miliken

Students at Middlebury undertand the value of a good education. We work hard throughout the week in order to get our work done. As the semester progresses, the work load builds up and students search for a place to study. Soon enough we find our ideal spots whether it is BI Hall, The Grille, Starr, or even our dorm room. Though we try to get our work done sooner rather than later, the inevitable all-nighter cannot be avoided especially when exams are just around the corner. Though the work is tough and at times very demanding, we rise to the challenge because we want to learn.

The Grille makes for a great place for groups to meet to prepare for projects and presentations.

When the reading starts to amount, students look forward to grabbing one of BI Hall's comfy chairs to curl up in. Students can also take advantage of the multiple tables that line the balcanies overlooking Great Hall.

Room and suite parties are a popular part of the Middlebury social scene. Whether it's to celebrate a birhtday, to celebrate the end of exams, or just to have a chance to see some friends, they have become a large part of the weekend social experience.

Weekend Social Life

Not everything is casual at Middlebury. Infact many events require us to dress in our best such as for Winter Carnival Ball, Cook Prom, and Tender is the Night.

Though Middlebury College is known for its academics, let it be known that Middlebury College students know how to have fun. We work hard during the week and take full advantage of the time we have on the weekends to spend time with friends. Whether it is going to a social house party, a production at Hepburn Zoo, an MCAB dance party at McCullough, or a performance by one of the many campus groups, Middlebury always has plenty to offer us for weekend nightlife. Middlebury also has lots to offer us during the days including the time to enjoy a late morning brunch with friends as well as a chance to cheer on our friends as we watch a wide range of sports. No matter what we choose to do during our weekends, we do it with friends and create memories and friendships to last a lifetime.

Students take a break to enjoy the view during their hike.

Middlebury prides itself for its location in beautiful mountainous Vermont and we take full advantage of the fact. With the beautiful mountains and inviting waters, Vermont has so much to offer. During J-term we boast about how many times we make it to The Bowl to ski. In the spring and fall many take trips around the state to enjoy what the Green Mountain State has to offer. With groups like the Polar Bears and the Middlebury Mountain Club, we are never left short on opportunities to enjoy our surroundings.

ADVENTURING OUTDOORS

Student Fan Base

Middlebury College not only has a great sports program, but a strong fan base to go with it. Not only can Middlebury boast the 22 National titles it has received over the past ten years, but also the overwhelming support both the local community and students have given.

Whether relaxing in the sun watching a tennis match on a beautiful spring day or walking in the freezing cold to sqeeze into the crowded student section at a hockey game, more and more students are flocking to cheer on their classmates and friends.

Over the past several years the fan base for each sport has been growing. While some sports are more attended than others, it is guarenteed that there will always be at least a few dedicated fans in the crowd.

President McCardell signs to a little boy at the staff awards on June 2, 2003.

President of Middlebury College for 13 years, John M. McCardell, Jr., has led the institution out of a time of instability into a period of intense and thriving activity that continues today. During his tenure, he has overseen the construction of several state-of-the-art buildings, including Bicentennial Hall, Chip Kenyon '85 Arena, Ross Commons, and, most recently, the new library and Atwater Commons. Under his leadership, the student body has grown from 1,900 to approximately 2,350. The number of applicants continues to rise as well, while the qualifications of prospective students also increases each year.

President McCardell has provided steady leadership as well as a strong commitment to diversity and to the College's faculty and staff. Middlebury continues to practice need-blind admissions, ensuring that students are accepted due to their personal qualifications as opposed to their financial need. During an economic downturn, while other institutions turned to layoffs, McCardell stood firm in his refusal to terminate any positions.

As president, McCardell has seen Middlebury gain increased recognition in numerous areas, including athletics, where students have earned 22 national championship titles since 1996. In 2003, U.S. News and World Report ranked Middlebury number seven among national liberal arts colleges. McCardell has also led the College through groundbreaking events, such as the implementation of the commons system, and several successful major fundraising initiatives, including the Bicentennial Campaign, which raised more than $200 million and ended in 2001, and a challenge campaign, concluding in 2003, that required the College to raise $30 million within an eight-month span in order to receive an additional $10 million from an anonymous donor. He also oversaw the Middlebury College Bicentennial Celebration, which was capped off with The Burlington Free Press' selection of him as Vermonter of the Year on January 1, 2001.

Jason Bradley Fleishman

September 2, 1980 - February 1, 2004

"I know now that all I can depend on is the LOVE, SUPPORT, and CONCERN of those around me to REINFORCE MY OWN COMMITMENT TO EXCEL AT WHATEVER I CHOOSE TO DO, regardless of the OBSTACLES IN MY WAY!" - Jason

When you part from your friend, you grieve not; For that which you love most in him may be clearer in his absence, as the mountain to the climber is clearer from the plain - Kahlil Gibran

Jason touched so many lives with his dedication and compassion: Coaching the Special Olympics, Ski Patrol, ADA, Febs, Broomball, Wheelchair for a Day, Vermont Epilepsy Foundation, EMT, Raise the Volume Fundraiser, Rugby Trainer, Friend.

When Jason was the 2002-2003 Ski Patrol co-President, he undoubtedly dedicated more time to that position than nearly all of his predecessors. He loved skiing, and he loved the Snow Bowl. His relentless drive and compassion let him completely devote himself to everything he did. The Middlebury Snow Bowl ski patrol benefited in every way from having Jason as our president, co-patroller, and friend.

On Acheivement

The mountain in itself is a pile of stones,
And climbing only makes sense
If you consider the man.
As a climber, the top is not something physical you can achieve, but something inner, spiritual.
The mountains are the means;
The man is the end.
The ideas is to hold to our gods and hopes,
to hold to our unique vision;
to improve the man,
not to reach the top of the mountain.

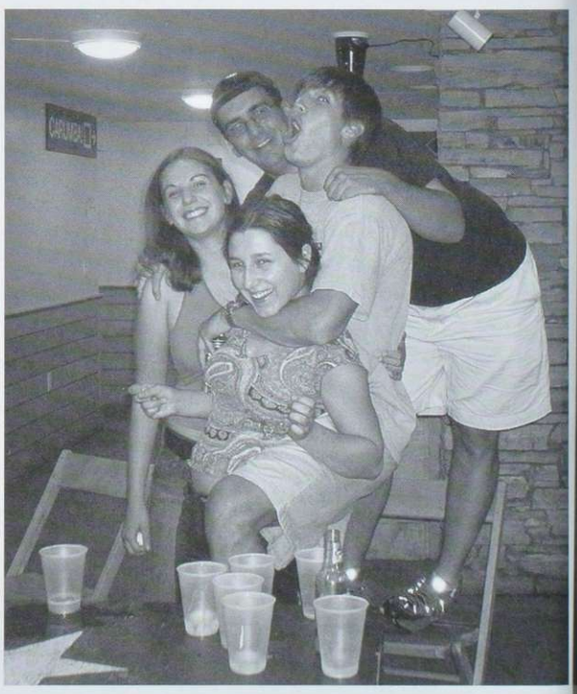
Palana

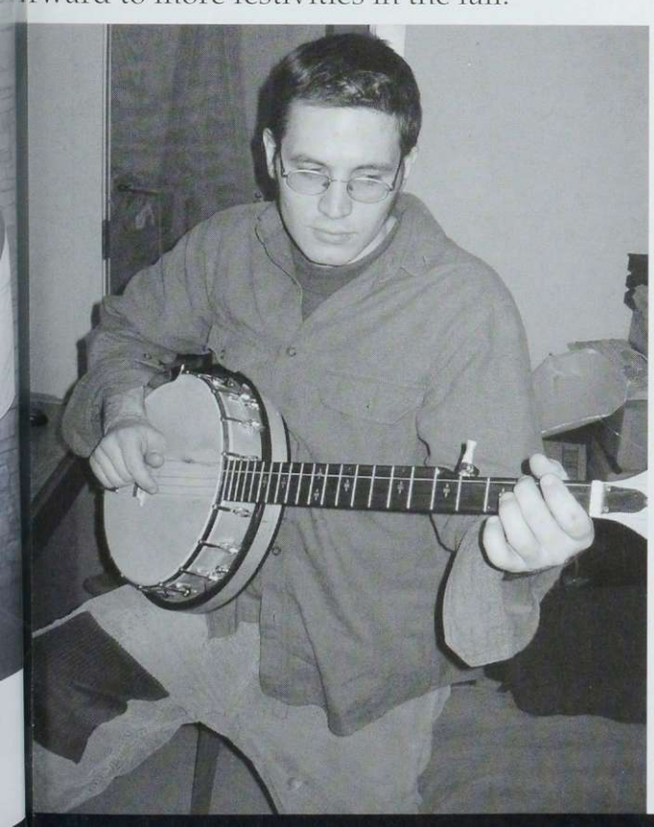
Omega Alpha (Tavern)

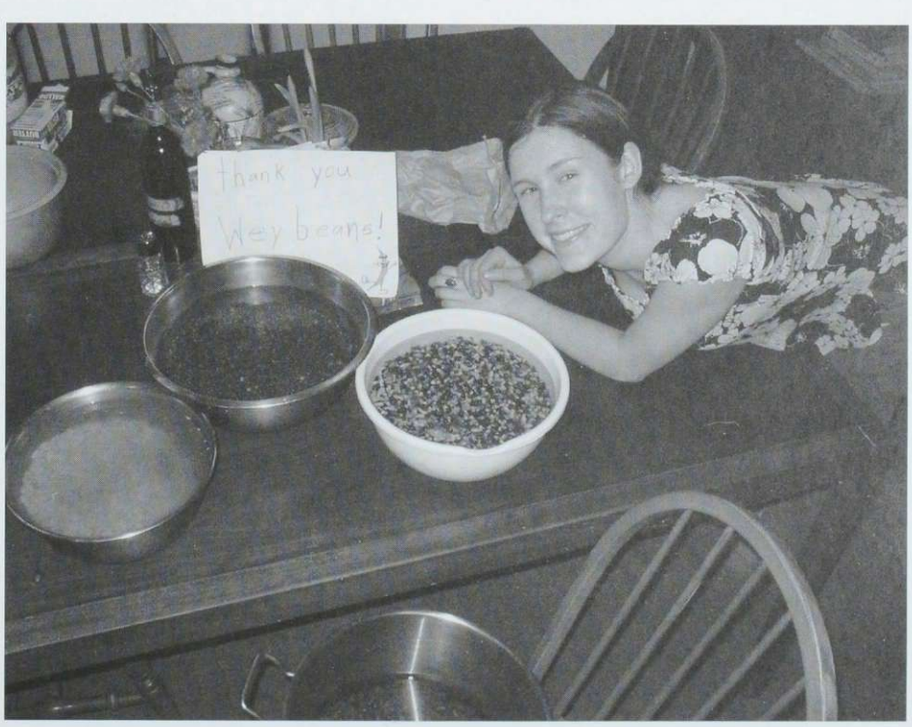
"The Tavern"is a co-ed social house. We were founded in 1991 in the vision of three pillars: Fides, Concordia, Dignatio (Trust, Unity, Respect). Our goal is to provide an open community where students can come to relax and have fun, and to have a tight-knit membership offering each other entertainment, support, and camraderie. We have a diverse group of members involved in many different parts of the Midd community, from bands to frisbee to acapella groups to RIDDIM to MCAB and more. We throw parties that are open to the entire campus, such as Mardi Gras and the 80s party, and try to feature many campus and alumni bands. As a membership, we participate in smaller events such as lock-ins, alumni weekends, poker games, semiformals, and movie nights. We recently had a booth at the Page One reading carnival, and are orchestrating an after-school program which we hope to implement this fall. Leadership: President and VP (2003): Geoff Martin and Tim Quinn President and VP (2004): Cassie Crawford and Kris Burfitt.



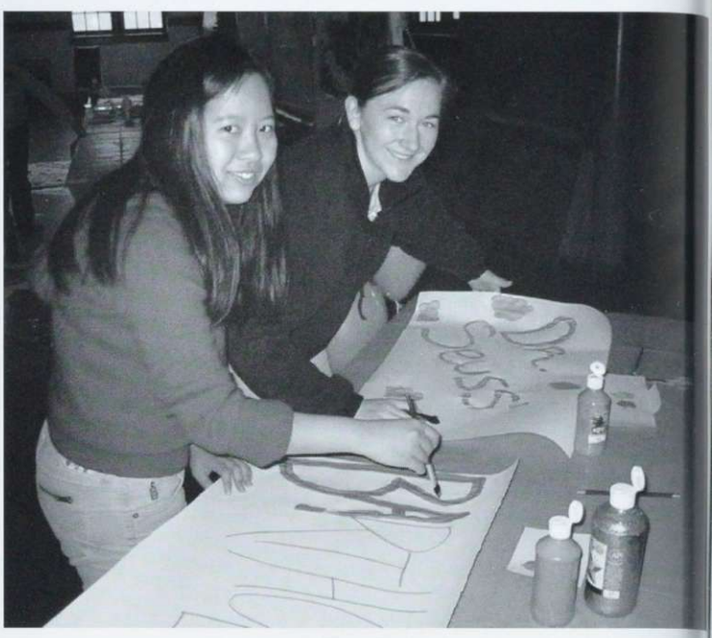
Weybridge House

Weybridge house had a really great year for 2003/04. We welcomed hundreds of students each semester down for dinner in the evenings, and the food was always getting better and better. In the fall, the house enjoyed a lot of fresh produce purchased from the Middlebury College Organic Garden: purple potatoes and fresh tomatoes abounded in the house. We also had a monstrous basil patch growing in our front yard (the only remnant of the house's small garden). The house had some great visitors from the local community this semester, inviting Prem Prakash in to speak with us about his Yoga center and Ashram in East Middlebury. Ralph Espezito, a local storyteller, joined us one evening in J-term to talk about ancient storytelling traditions. The house this spring had a lot of new residents come in. With two freshmen residents, we've had a lot of faces from the class of 2007 down for dinner and feasts. It's great to know that the newest members of the College community are connecting with this place, and will carry on the Weybridge tradition. House members for the fall are excited for the CSA (community supported agriculture) share that the house is buying with the College garden. We hope to use lots of fresh produce again in the fall, but also to run some workshops on how to put locally raised food away for the winter with canning and curing. The Wey-Stead (Weybridge/ Homestead) feast was a great end to the year, and we'll look forward to more festivities in the fall.





Xenia



Inspired by the Greek word for hospitality, the founding members of Middlebury College's only substance-free social house dubbed the organization Xenia in 1998. In the 6 years since Xenia's founding, members have strived to fulfill the promise of house's name by offering students fun and creative alternatives to the typical social scene on campus. Xenia has recently hosted a number of substance-free social events including weekly home-cooked dinners, dance parties, game nights, s'mores in front of our fireplace, formal dinners, our annual pre-Carnival Ball mocktail party, a contra dance, and a home-brewed root beer keg party. We do many more exciting things for Rush and Pledge, but they're a secret. As our membership grows, Xenia anticipates the continuation of old traditions and the start of new ones in the years to come.

Atwater

Faculty Heads Stephen and Emmie Donadio

Co-Chairs Ted Lester and Kevin Sullivan

Dean Scott Barnicle and Coordinator Debbie Cousino

Atwater kicked off the year welcoming our first-years to campus with the sounds of the Route 7 Ramblers during orientation week. Throughout September, we took on three of Vermont's most prominent peaks with hiking trips to Mount Mansfield, Camel's Hump, and Mount Abe. In late September, we held our annual community-wide blood drive with the American Red Cross. As the leaves began to change colors and students hunkered down to their studies, we had a series of semi-formal dinners inviting various guests, one whom was James Timberlake, the architectural mastermind behind Atwater's new residence halls and dining facility. In November, we charted a bus down to the Big Apple and bought tickets to see Carmen at the New York City Opera. Just before exam week, we held our annual Holly Ball, a semi-formal in the Grand Salon of Le Chateau. As the construction and noise pressed on in the winter months costing us hours in peaceful sleep (and the college, a few bucks), we finally hit J-term. After sponsoring a unique art exhibit put up in Bicentennial Hall by science majors in the beginning of the month, we bid farewell to our Feb graduates at the end of the term and looked forward to second semester. Our sponsored ski trip to Sugar Bush was a success. The annual Chaplain's Forum facilitated interesting discussion on the student-chosen topic of "The Debate of Medical, Recreational and Religious Uses of Drugs." After a much-anticipated spring break, Atwater threw a giant pirate-themed party on Battell Beach. As we enter the homestretch in these final weeks, the grass is getting greener and we're a few steps closer to summer and for some of us, graduation.

Commons Council TriChairs JS Woodward, Dan Politka, and Elizabeth Schaumbers

Though Cook students spent much of the year avoiding busts by Public Safety for playing Beirut, the Cook Council, a crew of about 40 "Cookers" led by Tri-Chairs Dan Polifka, Elizabeth Schaumberg and J.S. Woodward, also managed to plan a hell of a lot of great events. We had a huge Vermonty Fall Festival and a paint-throwing celebration of Holi, a Hindu festival of color. It was the sixth year of "Midd Kidd for a Day," our program that brings 60+ middle school students to campus to get them excited about college. Through the culinary stylings of Jay Yonamine, Cook continued to 'reign supreme' in the Iron Chef "Potato Battle" against Ross, with Dean David's "Yoko Homo" providing racy taster commentary. Tri-Chair J.S. Woodward organized the 2nd Annual Human Rights Film Festival, focusing on human rights abuses in industrialized nations. Over 200 pounds of clothing and toys were sent to "Samaritan's Purse," in Mazar e Sharif, Afghanistan for orphanages and other humanitarian causes in that war-torn nation. (Coordinator Amy Knapp's husband Mike served in Afghanistan all year and she helped organize this with RA, Meg Starkey.) Our Community Service Chairs, Lauren Young and Grace Armstrong, worked with the Porter Nursing Home, hosting a social for local seniors and students. Faculty Head, Pat "La Professoressa" Zupan hosted countless events, including authentic Italian meals prepared by the Casa and the Circolo Italiani; dinner and reception for La Venexiana, an internationally-acclaimed Italian madrigal group; dinner with Ekwueme Michael Thelwell, editor of Stokeley Carmichael's autobiography, Ready for Revolution; and dinner with the 2001 Nobel Prize Laureate in Physics, MIT Professor Wolfgang Ketterle.

Throughout the year, Cook worked to bring social life back on campus with the Cook Prom, a new late-night "After Prom," several parties in Pearsons (thanks Kate Bushman) and a happy hour beer-bust for our Seniors. Speaking of Seniors, we say goodbye to a big crew – Hannah Osier, Jill Snider, Emily Peterman, Julie Samara, Lynsey Waite, Sid Rao, Meg Starkey, and others – who have been die-hard Cook Council members since they got here. THANKS FOR A GREAT YEAR.

Wonnacott

Faculty Head Cynthia Atherton

Wonnacott's biggest event of 2003-2004 was Global Rhythms. Multiple student acts wowed a full house in McCullough with everything from bag piping to capoeira to Brazilian music and more. We rounded out the fall with apple picking, a sunset hike to Snake Mountain, and of course, Gingerbread House making during the holidays.

The new year brought many events for Seniors, including Wine and Cheese for the Graduating Febs and a champagne brunch for the graduating seniors in May. The ever-popular "Wonnacott Presents" featured four bands during the year-including a packed house for Larson in April. May featured the 2nd Annual Erica Wonnacott Award, which was awarded to Morgan Jones '04, in honor of our namesake.

We wrapped up the year saying goodbye to our current Faculty Heads Cynthia and Scott Atherton. For the last nine years they have spent countless hours making amazing things happen in Wonnacott. We wish them all the best of luck and welcome Will Nash and Deb Evans to the position in 2004-2005.

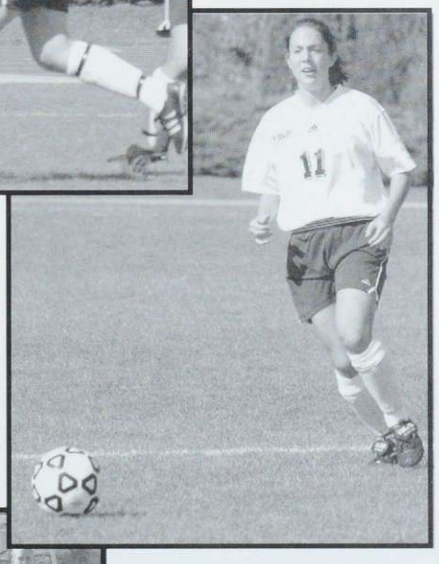
2003 was the season to make a difference. Re-defining the Middlebury style were five seniors who set both the tone and the pce for one of the most successful years ever. Captains Amanda Green and Michaela Dietz were joined by Molly Turco, Jessica Peterson and Kelly Feeney in making the season a special one. A new asistant coach, Peter Kim, and 11 rookies on varsity meant a lot of additions to the team.

The season saw a string of 6 wins, regular season victories over rivals Bowdoin and Williams, and 7 shutouts shared between Ts Van Woert '05 and Al Shube '07. Striker Brittany Cronin '06 had all scorers with 13 while frosh including Caity Abshere, Erin Pittenger, and Laura Kwoh accounted for 17 goals. In defense, Caitlin Fabian '06 anchored the flat back three with Kelly Feeney '04 and Christine Bolger '07 on the wings. A clever midfield with frosh wingers Caity Abshere and Erin Oliver and central figures Amanda Green '04, Mayo Fujii '05 and Siobhan Redmond '06 balanced attacking and defending for the Panthers.

Named All-New England were Brittany Cronin and Ts Van Woert. Cronin, Van Woert and Caitlin Fabian were honored as All-NESCAC. And Mayo Fujii was named Academic All-NESCAC. The team's top honor, the Miner Award, went to senior captain Amanda Green.



Clockwise: Molly Turco '04, Kelly Feeney '04, Jessica Peterson '04, Michaela Dietz '04, and Amanda Green '04.

Had an up and down season, would have liked to have won some more games but it was good to go out with two wins in a row. Congratulations to the all-NESCAC winners (Mike Keenan, Craig Pittman, Tommy Cleaver, Ross Carbone, Rich Decembrele) for they had great seasons. Looking forward to watching the 2004 Panthers because they are going to be very good.

The Women's Field Hockey Team had a very exciting and successful season this year going 19-1. Along the way, the team set school records for consecutive wins, and 1st NESCAC Championship. They lead the Nation in least goals against, most goals scored, and were finalists in the NCAA Fieldhockey National Championship.

Middlebury's journey was full of excitment in a very competitive league. Middlebury won an impressive 10 games by just one goal showing the true accomplishment of their heart and skill. A season highlight was capturing their first NESCAC Field Hockey Championship by defeating Williams 1-0 on their home turf, Peter Kohn Field.

The Panther's style of play reflected the fast surface of quick artifical turf. They maximized the whole field by sending the ball up the wings to a hanging player at the lead position. Their fast break transition game was very effective due to the athleticism, speed and stickwork of every player. They were led by seniors Becca Brakeley, Missy Krempa, Keely Murphy, Char Glessner and Abigail Lamb. They were coached by Katherine DeLorenzo and Kelly Higgins.

Cross Country 2003 Women's NCAA National Champions

The 2003 Women's Running team was one of the College's best teams in it's storied history going undefeated in Div. 3 and winning the NESCAC, NCAA Regional, and NCAA Div. 3 Championships for the third time in four years.

The team was led by senior, All-American co-capt. Molly Yazwinski and three time All-American, junior Jess Manzer. Junior Marisa Cawley was a consistent top five finisher and sophomore Jenny Jorvig was a strong contributor. First years Andrea Giddings, Erin Archard, and Stephanie Nugent made a huge impact on the team with Andrea Giddings winning the prestigous DenHartog MVP Award. Most Improved Award went to Claire Anderson.

2003 proved to be a banner year for the Middlebury College Men's Cross Country team. Armed with talented runners from the previous year's squad and a healthy group of promising freshman, the Panthers started the season with a determination to make their mark on the New England running scene. Unsatisfied with previous years' results, the entire team pulled together to increase the mileage and intensity in training necessary to compete with the region's top programs. In competition, the Panthers proved themselves time and time again dominating the Vermont State Championship, placing 24th at Open New England Championships, running with honor at NESCAC championships on their home course, and finishing the season with a top ten ranking for Division III New England. Few teams in the past have matched this squad's passion and ability. This season will truly be remembered as the beginning of a new chapter in men's distance running at Middlebury.

"Playing in the varsity volleyball team at Middlebury College has been one of my most meaningful life experiences. As a student-athlete, I faced many challenges that helped me to grow as a disciplined and committed person. The myriad lessons that I learned from teamwork, which led to victories and defeats on the court, will always be present in my heart and mind wherever I go. I also gained a very special friend, my coach Sarah Raunecker. Thank you so much Sarah for all your support, not only on the court, but also in my personal life. I would also like to thank my friend Brandy Perry '04 for her faithful support in all of my home games." –Luz Erlyn Brito

Championship game:
Middlebury 15 - 7 Wesleyen University

Knocking out three previous national champions along the way, the Middlebury Club Water Polo team earned their best-ever season record in 2003 along with the Division III Club National Championship.

Five years ago, such a title would not have seemed even remotely possible. The team had just been founded and most players had little to no experience. In a remarkably short period of time under the tutelage of Canadian Brian Goodwin, the team has evolved into a powerhouse of East coast club polo.

Once again, the tenacious goalkeeping of senior Charlie Evans '04 and defense of super-super-senior Dan Whitmore '03.5 and junior Adam Rahal '05 gave opponents few opportunities to put the ball in the net. On the offensive front, Rob Hillas's long counter-attacks often gave the team opportunities for the quick and easy score. The firepower of Shon Hedges '04 and Alex Demas '06 consistently provided several points per game. Seniors Geoff Martin '04, Matt Motley '04.5, and Chesley Thurber '04 provided experience, leadership, and wisdom while new players Dan Voegel '06, Jamie Lambree '06, Decker Deacon'07, Peter Sung '07 and Andrew "Tarzan" Edelstein '07 were great new players, and made some hearts flutter. Last, but not least, the team had one of the best female water polo players on the mainland, Robin Cornuelle '06.

The team would like to thank their devoted fans, both family and friends, who supported them throughout the season, often driving long distances and providing great meals.

Winners of the 2004 Walker Cup

The women's squash team had a strong season this year ending up with a 10-5 record overall. The regular season included numerous tight matches, most noteably a close win against William Smith followed by an unfortunate 5-4 loss to Colby. The highlight of the season came during the intercollegiate women's squash national tournament known as the Howe Cup at Yale University. The team played extremely well, defeating Connecticut College 7-2, Tufts 8-1, and topping Wellesley in the finals 8-1 to win the prestigous Walker Cup. This victory marks the first time the women's squash team has won this award in almost a decade.

The Women's Club Water Polo team had a great season this spring. With an overall record of 7-5, the team came in fourth in the New England Division, the highest place it's held since it began competing in the league four years ago. The team also boasted its largest-ever roster, with eighteen members, including nine first-years. Only losing one senior this year, the team is enthusiastic about its success and looks to improve its record even further next year. The losses were all due to just three teams, perennial powerhouses Dartmouth and Yale, as well as MIT. However, with an extra year of experience for players new to the sport, the team is confident it will be able to break into the top three next spring.

The team started the year off with high expectations and lived up to them early on, highlighted by a win at home over Hamilton and a road win over Southern Vermont. They stayed hot after break, defeating Colby-Sawyer and Norwich. NESCAC play began a tough stretch for the team. A tough loss to Amherst and Trinity put the team in tough position. A win against Connecticut College got them into NESCACS, where they lost to eventual runner up Williams. Overall the team did not perform up to expectations, but enjoyed some success. They graduated 6 seniors who contributed a lot to the program.

Men's & Women's Alpine & Nordic Ski Teams

2004 was a truly historic year for the Middlebury College ski team. The year will long be remembered as one of the most successful years in the programs storied history. In 1983 the NCAA Championship became a men's and women's combined championship with combined 8 event scoring. Since 1983 the team had NEVER won an overall carnival until this year. Overall, the team won five of six carnivals and broke UVM's 31 year winning streak in their own carnival and their 28 year winning streak in the EISA Championships contested annually here at Middlebury. There was great balance on the 2004 team between men and women and between alpine and nordic. The most dominant team throughout the season was the women's nordic team which won 10 of 11 events. The men were nearly as dominant winning the relay events at Colby and Williams and placing four men in the top five to win the St. Lawrence Carniva event by a landslide. What made the men's results so impressiv is that they accomplished their strong team results without two of their most talented skiers for a significant portion of the carnival season. First year, Beau Baldock qualified #1 to the World Jr. Team and represented the U.S. in Norway, missing th first half of the carnival season. Senior co-captain, Colin Rodger qualified for the sprint events at the U-23 (under age 23) World Championships at Soldier Hollow, Utah missing the UVM and Dartmouth carnivals. Middlebury's nordic team qualified six skiers to the EISA All-East team and had six skiers qualify for the Jr. Olympics in Lake Placid, NY.

CARNIVAL HIGHLIGHTS

Women

The entire season was a highlight for the women's nordic team. As a team, the panther women won 10 of 11 events and the relay team of Kate Whitcomb, Kate Newick, and Claire Anderson was undefeated throughout the year, winning all three relays by huge margins. Based on their performance throughout the season, Kate Newick, Kate Whitcomb and Claire Anderson were named to the EISA All East team.

Carnival team skiers Berkley Leach, Taylor Leach, Jenny Jorvig, Evelyn Dong, and Jenny Hamilton added depth and strength to the team. Berkley saved her very best collegiate race for last as she finished a strong 8th in the Middlebury Carnival classic race. Jenny Hamilton, in her first year of collegiate racing, ended up 12th on the EISA Final Ranking list and was the second alternate for the east. Development team skiers Emily Wheeler, Liz Torkelson, and Tyne Pike-Sprenger had strong results on the NENSA circuit and gained valuable experience. Both Claire Anderson and Kate Newick were individual event champions winning the Colby and St. Lawrence carnivals respectively. Kate Newick was our most consistent performer, never finishing out of the top five in six collegiate carnivals and Kate Whitcomb was a consistent top-ten finisher in every race.

Based on their strong NENSA results, Liz Torkelson, Emily Wheeler, Evelyn Dong, Jenny Hamilton, Taylor Leach, and Jenny Jorvig qualified for the USSA Jr. Olympic Championships in Lake Placid, NY gaining valuable championship race experience, with Taylor, Emily, Jenny and Jenny earning All-American recognition.

CARNIVAL HIGHLIGHTS

Men

The men's team highlights came in oth relays and individual races. The am of Garrott Kuzzy, Marshall Greene, nd Colin Rodgers set the tone for the ason in the very first race of the year, inning one of the most exciting relays recent memory over the University of ermont in the Colby Carnival 3X5K eestyle relay. After 15 kilometers of cing, the winning margin was just 3/10 a second as anchor Colin Rodgers out printed Ethan Foster for the win. Not to outdone by Middlebury's first team, e team of Dan Skold, Donovan Dums, ad Andrew Savage out kicked the cond UVM team by 7/10 of a second to nish in third place out of 21 teams.

In the Williams sprint relay, the men's am of Colin Rodgers, Beau Baldock, d Garrott Kuzzy defeated the UVM p team by a whopping 40 seconds. Our cond team of Marshall Greene, Dan old, and Andrew Savage finished urth just seconds behind Dartmouth's team. Our most dominant individual ce of the year came at the St. Lawrence rnival in the grueling 20 kilometer ssic race where our men unbelievably ced four men in the top five with rrott Kuzzy, 2nd, Colin Rodgers, 3rd, arshall Greene, 4th, and Dan Skold, h.

The men clearly established themves as one of the elite teams in the east athey had three wins, six second place ishes and two third place results. ke their female counterparts, the men ced three men on the EISA All-East m and Garrott Kuzzy, with his three ond place finishes in the freestyle ent, established himself as one of the y top skiers in the east.

Nordic Skiing: Claire Anderson, Evelyn Dong, Virginia Hamilton, Jenny Jorvig, Berkley Leach, Taylor Leach, Kate Newick(Capt.), Tyne Pike-Sprenger, Elizabeth Torkelson, Emily Wheeler, Kate Whitcomb, Josh Axelrod, Beau Baldock, Jakub Benes, Bryce Connery, Josh Dalley, Donovan Dums, Marshall Greene, Simon Isaacs, Garrott Kuzzy, Bryce Roche, Colin Rodgers (Capt.), Chris Rodgers, Andrew Savage, Dan Skold, Jake Whitcomb, Head Coach Terry Aldrich, Asst. Coach Patty Ross.

Alpine Skiing: Lindsay Brush, Lea Davison, Sabra Davison, Jen Higgins, Ramsey Hill, Elizabeth Hoeschler, Lindsay Linton, Tara Martin, Brie Pike-Sprenger, Nina Porcelli, Molly Russell, Laura Scripture (Capt.), Jessica Smith, Sally Swallow, Amy Witherspoon, Brian Cook, David Coriell, Scott Coriell, Fred Emich (Capt.), Andrew Everett, Geoff Homer, Andy Peters (Capt.), Peter Phillips, John Rusten (Capt.), Eric Rygg (Capt.), Derek Shields, Josh Transue, Head Coach Forest Carey, Asst. Coach Brooke Laundon, Asst. Coach Nate Simms

NCAA's

Based on our EISA Final Ranking list, six men and three women met the NCAA selection criteria:

Beau Baldock	Colin Rodgers	Claire Anderson
Dan Skold	Marshall Green	Kate Newick
Jake Whitcomb	Garrott Kuzzy	Kate Whitcomb

With a NCAA limitation of three athletes per discipline, Marshall Greene, Garrott Kuzzy, and Colin Rodgers were selected to represent the men's team. The event was held in Truckee, CA, hosted by The University of Nevada ñ Reno. We were blessed with 10 days of absolutely beautiful weather with temperatures in the 50's and 60's and meters of snow. Unfortunately for the sea level athletes, the races were contested at 7,200 feet and we simply did not have enough time to adjust physically to the altitude. Generally, the eastern skiers performed well below their potential with the exception of Garrott Kuzzy. In what may truly be one of the most impressive NCAA performances by a Middlebury nordic skier, Garrott finished just 2/10 of a second out of third place in the 10K freestyle race. His 4th place finish ranks as one of the top performances ever by a Middlebury cross country skier. To finish 4th at that altitude against such high caliber competition was truly a phenomenal performance. Marshall Greene, despite several falls in the race finished 30th and Colin Rodgers rounded out the scoring in 33rd.

Kate Newick was the east's top female performer in the freestyle race placing a creditable 13th place. She was followed by Claire Anderson, 20th, and Kate Whitcomb, 31st.

The 15K/20K classic race was held on one of the toughest courses we have ever seen for a NCAA event. After dropping into the "Black Hole," the racers had to climb back out without a break for nearly two kilometers. Garrott Kuzzy was again our top performer in 12th place. Marshall Greene and Colin Rodgers, skiing in their final collegiate race finished 22nd and 24th respectively.

In the women's race, Kate Whitcomb turned in the second best performance for the East finishing 21st. She was followed by Claire Anderson in 30th and Kate Newick, 33rd. For some, it was a disappointing end to a great season, however, no one can ever take away or forget the success of the team during the carnival season.

2004 NESCAC Champions

The season began with great expectations as the team had made its fifth consecutive NCAA finals appearance at the end of the '03 season and many of the players were returning from that team. Furthermore, many of the players with experience were members of the class of 2004, so the senior leadership was strong.

The beginning of the year was promising as they were victorious over national powers Springfield and Gettysburg by the respective scores of 12-10 and 10-8. The team played well in both games and were ranked 2nd nationally behind powerhouse Salisbury University. When they began the meat of the league schedule in the middle of the season, the team found itself were struggling a little. The quality of play in the league was exceptionally high and they faced one strong opponent after another. The turning point in this part of the season was a 11-10 OT defeat at Bowdoin. After this point the team was able to refocus and they saw considerable improvement as the regular season ended.

The team ended the regular season as the #1 seed in the conference tournament, gaining a bye in the first round and hosting the Final 4. They played great lacrosse in the league playoffs and gained victories over Amherst in the semi-finals and Wesleyan in the finals. The wins gave them the NESCAC Championship and an automatic berth into the NCAA playoffs. The team continued to play impressively in the NCAA First Round and Quarterfinals and they found themselves in the NCAA Semifinals, to be played at Middlebury in the afternoon after Commencement. Their opponent was Nazareth College from Rochester, a team they had met on many occassions deep in the NCAA playoffs, a team that Middlebury had defeated several times in the past few years. However, Nazareth played a great game and defeated Middlebury 12-8. It was a fantastic season for the 2004 team, particularly for the seniors. Seniors Mike Saraceni, Greg Bastis, John West, Eric Krieger and Charley Howe were all named All American, while Saraceni and Bastis were Scholar All Americans as well.

The Women's Lacrosse Team finished their undefeated (19-0) season as NESCAC and NCAA Champions. The season began with a successful Spring Trip to Baltimore for out of region competition against Salisbury and Gettysburg where the young squad quickly came together and began to play as veterans. After an undefeated regular season the team won the NESCAC Championship by defeating Amherst College 13-6 and received a bid to the NCAA Tournament where they again faced Conference rival Amherst in the semifinal game. They then won a nail biter of a game against undefeated College of NewJersey in the final game for the NCAA title. Tri Captains, Becca Brakeley, Sarah Grenert and Nuala ODonohoe as well as Junior Caitlin McCormick were named first team All-American.

It was an historic year for the Middlebury tennis team. After first becoming nationally ranked in 2002, the team realized its ultimate goal a became DIII NCAA national champions in 2004.

The team completed the regular season with fifteen wins and just thre losses, only one of which was to a DIII school. In the post-season, the Panthers went on to claim their first NESCAC tournament title, edging o Williams by only a few points. A week later, the Panthers beat Trinity of Connecticut 4-1 in the NCAA regional round and advanced to the quarterfinals of the NCAA tournament in Lewiston, Maine, for only the second time in team history. In this round, Middlebury beat Trinity of Texas 4-0 and advanced to the semifinals to play the top seed and defenc ing national champion, Emory University. After a tight battle, the Panth men emerged victorious 4-1. In the finals, Middlebury faced conference rival Williams. Despite losing the doubles point and the first set in four the six singles matches, Middlebury rebounded to tie the score at three a In the final match, freshman Alex Scott came back from a set down and with an overhead smash gave the Panthers their first NCAA title.

In the end, Middlebury's top four singles players all finished in the to 50 nationally and the top two doubles teams in the top 20. All players, however, contributed to make 2004 the most successful season in team history.

Finishing in the NESCAC championship game, Middlebury Softball had another banner year. Under the leadership of captain Christina Freyer '04, the team went 24-8 including a win streak of ten straight games. A record five players were named all-NESCAC including Freyer, Michaela George '04, Megan McCarthy '05, Lauren Guza '05 and Katie Hurd '06. The team hit .312 and the pitchers' collective ERA was 1.33. Team honors went to Michaela George as the most valuable player, Lily Hamburger '07 for sportsmanship and Colleen Sullivan '07 as most improved player. Assistant coaches Hillary Read, Lindsay Ladd '03, Angie Totaro were invaluable to the team and helped put head coach Diane Boettcher atop the all-time win percentage by a softball coach at Middlebury.

Hell, with all the things that I've been known to say, how can I pick just one?
Thanks Mom and Dad for all of your support throughout the years. You've always been there as pillars of strength for me to rely on. I couldn't have made it this far without you. And to all of my friends, thank you for sticking with me through the good times and the bad. There have been so many ups and downs here at Middlebury, but we have finally made it through all of them. As a result I feel like we are all stronger individuals. I'll never forget all the good times we have shared. Good luck in all of your future pursuits.

I beg you to have patience with everything unresolved in your heart and to try to love the questions as if they were locked rooms or books written in a very foreign language. Do not search for the answers, which could not be given to you now because you would not be able to live them... Live the questions now.
Perhaps then, someday far in the future,
you will gradually, without even noticing it,
live your way into the answer." "La vida es como espuma. Por eso, hay que darse como el mar..." "Where there is love, there is life."

Hey, Greg! Wow, twenty-two years have passed by so quickly, especially these past four wonderful years at Middlebury, which I believe that you have not only enjoyed so much, but you've also contributed to so much! There will always be incredible, indelible memories of your lacrosse experience! You were so lucky to have been part of such an awesome program; and it was so transparent to see the deep respect that you have had for your teammates and coaches as well as the leadership that you have provided to the team! From a selfish perspective, you have reaffirmed my own passion for the game; and I have had a lot of vicarious pleasure in watching you play at Middlebury, sometimes to the extent of almost dodging in the stands! Your determination, dedication and remarkable work ethic will undoubtedly continue to do you well for whatever challenges lie ahead. Whatever you set out to do, you are driven to be the best; and it shows. You should be enormously proud of all of your accomplishments. You are very loyal to your friends and family; and in giving everyone around you so much respect, you have in turn earned theirs. Whatever I've just said, it's difficult to put into words what you've meant to me as a son; and all of these expressions are in fact somewhat of an understatement. You are a very, very special person; and I am extremely proud of you! It doesn't seem that long ago that I was carrying you around in a blue corduroy OshKosh sling on my chest, so "you've come a long way, baby" as they say! I feel grateful in having our relationship grow closer over the years; and I'm going to miss you immensely; so you'd better remember to visit a lot, wherever you wind up going! I hope that your life will always bring you much love, joy and happiness! With all of my love, Dad

Congratulations, Andrew!

Love, Mom, Dad, Greg,
Joe and Choppa

To infinity and beyond...

Congratulations Meredith!

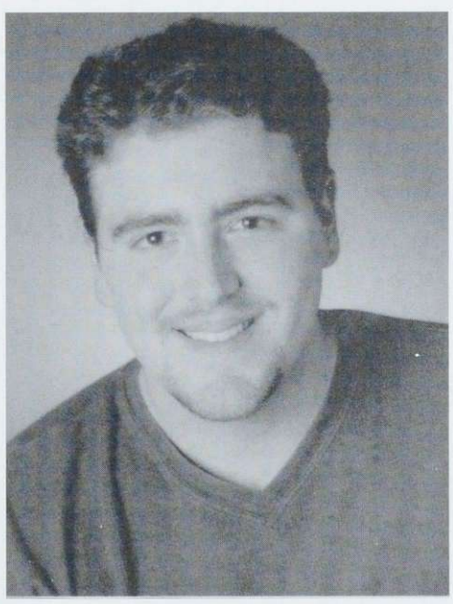
Ben,

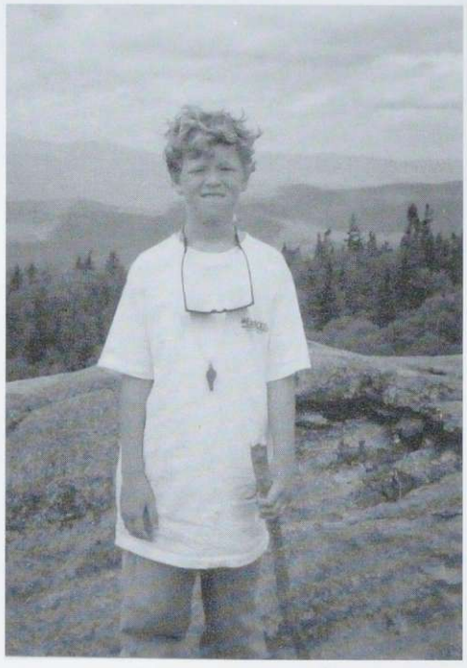
May the continuation of your journey through the woods be as wonderful and successful as your time at Middlebury.
We celebrate you.
Congratulations!

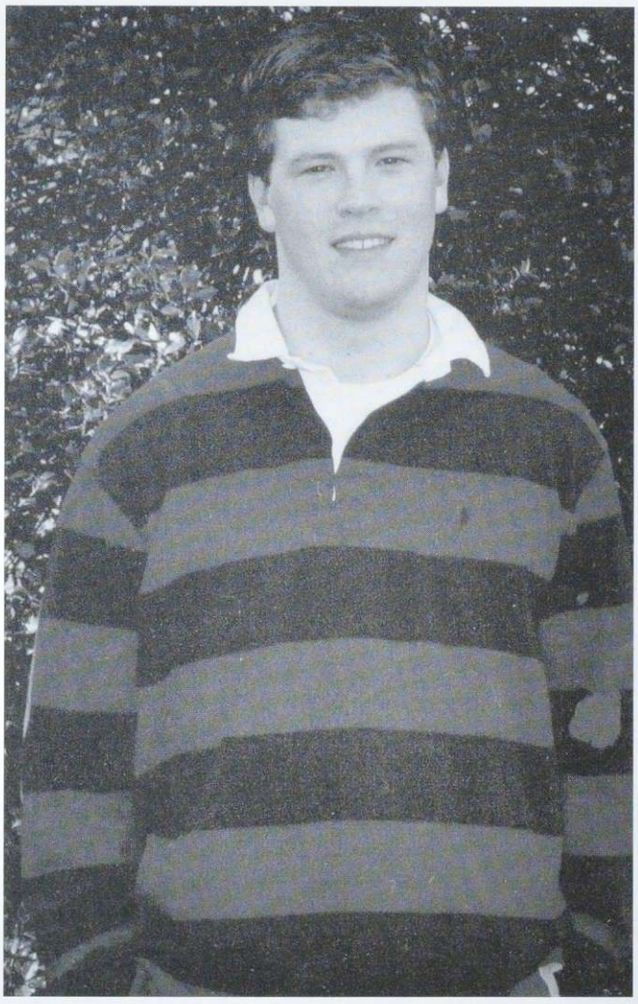


With great pride and much love,
Mom and Dad

CONGRATULATIONS MICHAEL

and the class of 2004!





We know you enjoyed being in the mountains at Middlebury. We are very proud of the fine man you have become. Use your education and talents to make the world a better place and follow your dreams!

We love you,

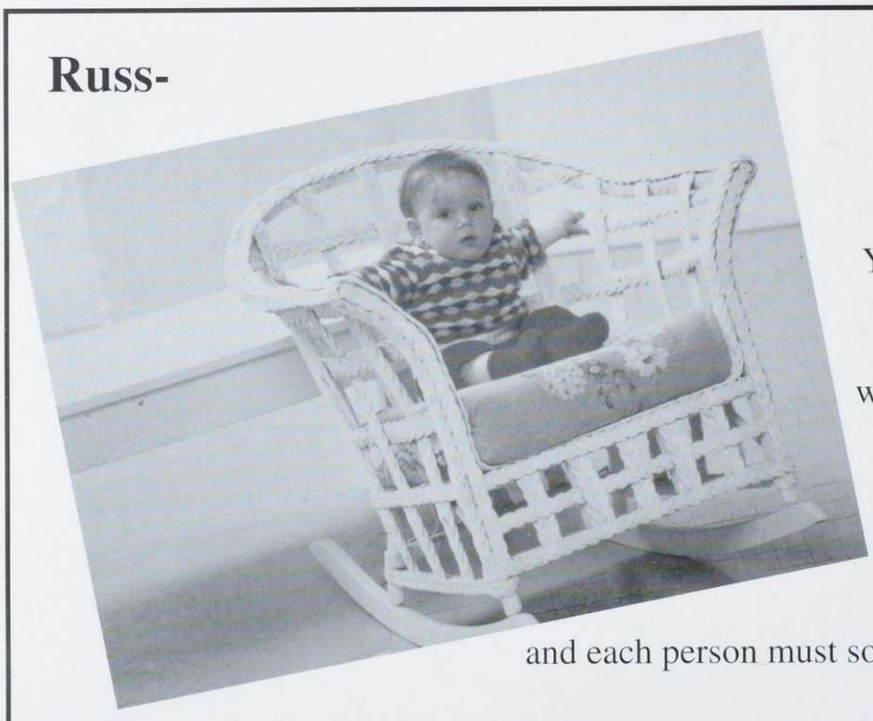
Russ-



You've always reached for something bigger.
And so often met your goals.
Now, as you set out into the world,
with all the knowledge, skills and friendships forged in these last four years, it's time to reflect-

"Life in this world is a great mystery, and each person must solve it for himself. For life to be worthwhile, you must make the effort to find out the greater purpose of your own existence."
-Swami Chidvilasananda

All our love,

Halli,
You have already scaled tall mountains
And achieved great things.
And yet this is only the beginning of what is yet to come.
We could not have asked for than to
Have a wonderful daughter like you.

Teddy

From Peewee to Panther

So much fun

That went by way too fast

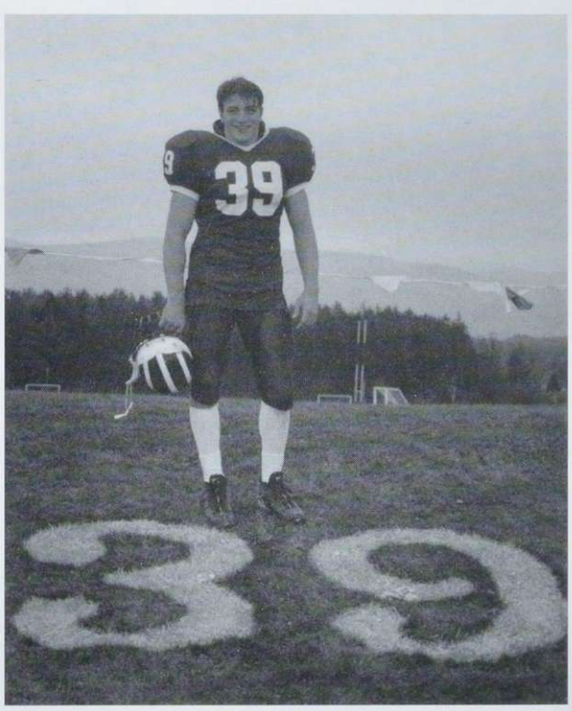
Off you go, kid

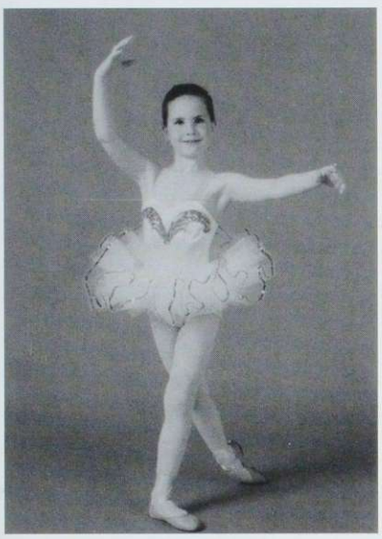
We're proud...Good Luck!

(There will always be a creamsicle in the freezer.)

Love,

Mom, Dad, Will, Ben





Clare,

You've brightened and enlightened our lives and of all whom you've met with your infectious smile and your exquisite way of being. Keep smiling your smile and dancing your dance--now and forever.

"What lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us."~ R.W. Emerson

That sense of adventure
Your drive and wit
Always caring,
Always believing & perservering.
What a great journey-
Here's to you!
¡Felicidades!

May your future be happy, prosperous and full of music.

To Phil, on leaving Middlebury

Look, the crane is like my bent elbow.
Water, motorcycles, more, more, more!
Backhoe, slippers, go, go, go.
The waves take my footprints, was I ever there?
Jump the surf along the shore.
Climb the Rocky Mountains at four.
Gather blueberries at Umbagog.
Capture the flag out in the woods.
Build a dam across our stream.
Mouse house, hedgehogs, lord and rings.
Kickball, skiing, backpacking.
Flilter water, hang the food.
Katahdin, Allagash, Squamish, Cascades.
Odyyssey, physics, fools Rules, duct tape.
PA, XC, AMC, VT, and Chile.
That's where you've been,
Where will you go?
Yeah, past was prelude,
But damn fun too.

With love and admiration,
Mom, Dad, and Trish

PETER CONGRATULATIONS

(Nikki & Kaiowa)

As you can see, some time has passed since this picture was taken. What makes me so proud is not the passage of time, but the way my beautiful child became a wonderful woman.

Love always,

Dad

Due to a shortage of staff this year, the Kaleidoscope staff worked extremely hard to ensure that there would be a book for this year. As hard as we worked though, it would not have been possible without the support of The Middlebury Campus photographers Vlad Lodoaba, Albert Bitici, and Julia Randall whose photos allowed us to produce a more representative yearbook. A special thanks also to all of those who answered our requests to supply photos, write ups, names, etc. especially Brad Nadeau and Leslie Wade. The staff of the Kaleidoscope would also like to thank our advisor Charlotte Chase as well as Tammy Grant, Doug Adams, and Derek Doucet of the CCAL office for their constant support and guidence and to Michael Wood, our Jostens Publishing representative and Christina Ripka, our plant consultant for your help and patience with a young staff. Thank you also to all of our patrons and sponsors for whose added financial support made this book possible.
